The American High Commissioners to Peking have brought their labors to a very early and to a perfectly satisfactory conclusion. It is, however, stated by our Shanghai morning contemporary that the three gentlemen composing the Commission are themselves well satisfied with the results of the negotiations. Whether their countrymen will be equally pleased has yet to be demonstrated. The Tsungli Yamen is reported to have conceded the right to the United States Government of legislation on the subject of immigration in any way in which they see fit. We hear that another and the only other important clause of the new convention is one prohibiting the export of opium into the United States, and forbidding American citizens in China from taking any part in the trade. Of course this is intended as a slap at England, which it must be admitted is a cheap one, since the High Commissioners probably believed they were making a concession that could not materially affect American interests. We doubt, however, whether American firms in China will regard the stipulation with favor, for though none of them are very largely interested in the opium trade, yet it cannot be pleasant to have a legitimate source of profit barred to them, more especially when they have little interest in the Chinese question. Few British or American residents in China believe in the outcry that has been raised against the Chinese in the Pacific States as a bona fide expression of opinion of the majority of the American people. An outcry was raised through the medium of some clamorous agitators; the elections were tainted, and something had to be done. The convention just negotiated is the result, and it remains to be seen whether it will prove more than a mere instrument obtained to pacify the Anti-Chinese party in the Golden State. If the new convention really signified the possible exclusion of the Chinese from the States it is doubtful whether the Chinese Government would have proved so pliable, though they were, while conducting the negotiations with Messrs. ANGELL, TRESSOLDT, and SWIN, embarrassed by their quarrel with Russia. As a matter of fact, it is very probable the Authorities at Peking care little either one way or the other about the emigration to the United States. Most of the emigrants are of the coolie class, and until very recently the paternal Government of China have shown scant care for the interests of those of their subjects who chose to go abroad. If, however, the reverse is the case, and the Chinese Government do feel a keen interest in the emigration to the United States, they will not be long in finding some means to secure an equivalent for the concession reputed to have been made to the American Commissioners. Moreover, the Peking Authorities have lately given sufficient proof to the world that no treaty negotiated with them can be regarded as of the slightest value until it has been formally ratified. They have a rather awkward habit of changing their mind, and clearly cannot be depended upon. They also rely upon their ability to delay agreements, and by constant procrastination to weary out their opponents. This shuffling policy did not avail with Germany, which the little difficulty with that Power arose out of the piracy of the Anna some three or four years ago, and it does not seem likely to answer with Russia, but even official and he will always employ them if possible. But more sly cunning cannot be expected to match the astuteness of the Muscovite, who can safely be trusted to speedily fathom the shallow designs of the mandarin. The new American Treaty, as described, has been yielded for some considerable reason, which may perhaps be more apparent later on.

The delivery of the American mail was begun at 8.10 yesterday morning.

The German guest Cyclops, Lieut. Commander Schultmann, from Shanghai on the 2nd inst., arrived here yesterday.The Agents (Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co.) inform us that the steamer Blanchard left Singapore for this port on the 24th inst.We are informed by the Agents (Messrs. Adamson, Bell & Co.) that the steamer Radnorshire, from London, left Singapore on the 3rd inst. for this port.We are requested to state that unless the French mail box on shore by 7.30 this morning, it will not be distributed until after the Djinnah has left with the outward mail.

The Flying Fish, a composite screw sloop, Commander Richard P. Hoskey, arrived here yesterday from England, via Singapore, and Manila. The Flying Fish was commissioned at Sheerness on the 15th of April last, and while on this station will be engaged on surveying duties.

We understand that a crew of officers of the 27th (Inniskilling) has sent a challenge to the Victoria Recreation Club, to row a crew of that Club one mile in Canton four-oared cutters for a cup valued at $500, the two sides to row a "dash" after the regatta. We believe the Club crew will consist of Mr. A. K. Tavares (stroke), Dr. Blomberg, Mr. J. Sampaio, and Mr. W. Dumas; and the Inniskilling crew of Lieut. Commandant Blomberg (stroke), J. G. Mayne, T. Lawford, and A. J. Murray.

The Chinese steamer Kang-chi, Captain Crowe, seen by the C. T. Hook around a point of view of the latter vessel here yesterday. She reports left Hongkong on the 1st inst., and on the morning of the 2nd, in thick and dry weather, went on a mud bank about 10 miles N.E. of Cape Horn, and got off on the morning of the 3rd inst. in a heavy rain, and proceeded to the 5th. The first part of the weather, and the latter storm N.E. wind and heavy seas with heavy weather throughout.

THE ITALIAN OPERA COMPANY AT THE THEATRE ROYAL.

On Monday night Signor Cagli's Italian Opera Company gave their seventh performance of the season at the Theatre Royal, City Hall, selecting Flora's comic opera "Martha" for the occasion. There was a very full attendance, and among those present were His Excellency the Governor and Lady Denham, His Excellency Major-General Donovan and Mrs. Donovan, and in the Governor's box with His Excellency were the Chief Justice, Sir John and Lady Smale, Deputy-Surgeon-General and Mrs. Thomson, Commissioner-General and Mrs. Pennell, and Mrs. Euston, and Mrs. Bird.The Italian version of this charming opera has not been performed here before, and it may not be inappropriate therefore to give the following brief sketch of the plot.—The scene is laid near Richmond, Surrey. The young and lovely Lady Enrichetta, maid of honor to Queen Anne, is recovered by the money of a Court life. No money can amuse—no pleasure can satisfy her. The song of the peasants, on their way to the statue fair at Richmond, leads her to accompany them. In the forest of Richmond she meets a young man, Enrichetta, who is on a hunting party with the Queen, and pleads his passion with more warmth than before. The lady curdly and haughtily dismisses him. Enrichetta, however, is not so easily deterred. She follows him, and in the forest of Richmond she meets a young man, Enrichetta, who is on a hunting party with the Queen, and pleads his passion with more warmth than before. The lady curdly and haughtily dismisses him. Enrichetta, however, is not so easily deterred. She follows him, and in the forest of Richmond she meets a young man, Enrichetta, who is on a hunting party with the Queen, and pleads his passion with more warmth than before. The lady curdly and haughtily dismisses him. Enrichetta, however, is not so easily deterred.
